(ee) GASBS 96 Subscription Based Technology Arrangements (SBITAs) Summary "A SBITA is defined as a contract that conveys controls of the right to use another party's (SBITA vendor's) information technology (IT) software, alone or in combinations with tangible capital assets (the underlying IT assets), as specified in the contract for a period of time in an exchange or exchange-like transactionUnder this statement, a government should recognize a right-to-use asset- an intangible asset-and a corresponding subscription liability. A government should recognize the subscription liability at the commencement of the subscription term, which is when the subscription asset is placed into service. The subscription liability should be initially measured at the present value of subscription at the present value of subscription payments expected to be made during the subscription term. Future subscription payments should be discounted using the interest rate the SBITA vendor charges the government, which may be implicit, or the government's incremental borrowing rate if the interest rate is not readily determinable. A government should recognize amortization of the discount on the subscription liability as an outflow of resources (for example, interest expense) in subsequent financial reporting periods. (ff) For additional guidance for state agencies also refer to:
